

O365 Groups

- An O365 Group has Owners and Members. In private groups Owners allow Members to join
- An O365 Group has a collection of resources like a shared mailbox and a document library to which both Members and Owners have access
- O365 Group Owners are Site Collection Admins in SharePoint. O365 Group Members are Site Members in SharePoint
- An O365 Group can optionally have a (1) corresponding O365 Team

O365 Teams

- An O365 Team always has one (1) corresponding O365 Group
- When you create a new O365 Team an O365
  Group is automatically created
- You can create an O365 Team for an existing O365 Group
- An O365 Team has the same Owners and Members as an O365 Group and vice versa,
- An O365 Team re-uses the resources of an O365 Group

Private Channels

- An O365 Team can have multiple Private Channels
- A Private Channel has its own Owners and Members
- A Private Channel has its own corresponding SharePoint site.
- Private Channel Owners are Site Collection Admins/Owners in SharePoint. Private Channel Members are Site Members in SharePoint